Value of the Term: Courage

Dear Parents and Carers

I hope everyone had an enjoyable half-term. This week the weather has slowly begun to warm up – please could I remind you of the importance of sun safety- specifically a hat and sun cream. I sent out details at the end of Term 5 and this week children also had an assembly on this theme. We also launched our value of Courage, thinking about the term ahead and apprehensions we may have and how we can use the value of courage to help us get through. We listened to a story about Moses and the courage he had to use when faced with a difficult dilemma. I am delighted that we have now been able to share our Ofsted outcome. Thank you so much for the many kind words and emails we have received. Sycamore had a wonderful trip to the Ashmolean Museum on Tuesday as part of their Egyptian curriculum learning. They had a great day exploring and members of the public and the staff at the museum commented on what an extremely polite and well-behaved group of children they were – a credit to the school. Well done - lovey to have such feedback and seeing our values in action. Many of the girls in Maple class went to a Girls Rugby event at The Saints ground in Northampton on Wednesday. Mrs Wilmot kindly accompanied them as part of a super day where they got to do a wealth of different activities including mini games, orienteering and the had a tour of the stadium. Thank you to the staff involved and the parents support in getting the day to work. Next week it is the British Nutrition Foundation's Healthy Eating Week. Children will explore this as part of an assembly but attached are some great ideas for healthier lunchboxes. Finally, I would like to extend a warm welcome to Myles, Molly, Jordan and Jesse and their families as they join our Croughton school community this term.

Hope to see many of you on Saturday at the Village fete - enjoy your weekend!
